Waiver and Release- Minor

I provide permission for my minor child to participate with One Way Theatre from February 16, 2026 through April 18, 2026, as part of One Way Theatre's The Mouse That Roared production.

I understand that my minor child is acting as a volunteer and is not an employee or contracted service provider of One Way Theatre and is therefore not entitled to compensation or benefits. I understand that there are inherent risks associated with participating, and verify that my minor child is covered by a health insurance plan.

I expressly agree to hold harmless and indemnify One Way Theatre, and its production staff for any damages or claims which my minor child may cause to any property, of any nature whatsoever, occurring while performing with One Way Theatre. It is further understood that One Way Theatre and its directors shall not be responsible for any loss of personal possessions during my child's participation.

I have read and agree to abide by One Way Theatre's Illness policy. I agree and understand that One Way Theatre and its directors shall not be liable for any illness, injuries, or claims incurred by my minor child while participating with One Way Theatre.

I hereby agree and consent that the photograph(s)/video(s) taken by One Way Theatre may be copyrighted and reproduced for use in marketing and promotional items or other appropriate publications, any time hereafter without restriction; and that copies of said photograph(s)/video(s) will remain the property of One Way Theatre.

Illness Policy

All families and youth participants must agree to abide by these when participating at One Way Theatre. Thank you.

Anyone who is not feeling well should not be at rehearsal and may be sent home for their and other's health.

Masks will not be required or recommended.

If parents/guardians wish, their children can wear a mask at rehearsals during breaks and when they aren't actively practicing, but anytime they are working on scenes and practicing lines masks will be off.

During show days masks will not be worn onstage or backstage during performances.

This policy is based on consideration of CDC recommendations, the needs inherent to theatre, and the health of our participants.
